FOG DELAYS SUB SALVAGE WORK

Pontoons and 'Life Bell' Made Ready for Task

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 27—Peasoup fog, limiting visibility to about 50 feet over the Isles of Shoals, today held up work of salvaging the sunken submarine Squalus, tomb of 26 members of her crew.

Rear-Admiral C. W. Cole, commandant of the Portsmouth navy yard, boarded a coast guard patrol boat in spite of the fog and went to the salvage ship Falcon, anchored directly over the spot where the Squalus lies embedded in sticky mud, 243 feet below the surface.

DENTIST DEAD IN MYSTERY

Attired in his white dental coat and clutching a towel, Dr. Robert C. Jamieson, 65, well-known dentist, was found dead mysteriously today in his Brattle street, Cambridge, office.

About to record the death as due to natural causes, Captain John J. Canney of the Cambridge police ordered an immediate autopsy on finding a mystery note pinned to a corner of an office desk. It read: "George S. Pingre of State street, Boston, knows the cause of my condition."

It was signed with the victim's name. Dr. Jamieson had been in ill health for many months and had not been attending patients, police learned, since last September.

A janitor, Ernest B. Norman, found him stretched on the floor when he noticed the dental office door ajar.

Pingre, a State street broker, told authorities that Dr. Jamieson had been in ill health and had suffered severe stock market losses, some of them during a Florida trip this winter to regain his health.

Medical Examiner David C. Dow announced he would perform an autopsy at once and give his verdict in the death later in the day.

Members of the families of the 26 victims of the undersea disaster, gathered again at the navy yard today, awaiting word of progress in the attempts to raise the sunken sub and remove the dead.

GET PONTOONS READY

Commanders A. I. McKee and A. R. McCann, who went to Washington yesterday and obtained approval of the Navy high command for salvage plans, were enroute back to Portsmouth by plane but were faced with delay because of the fog.

Although operations at the scene were interrupted, activity continued at the navy yard where workmen made ready giant pontoons to be used in attempts to refloat the sunken Squalus. Repairs were completed on the diving bell which rescued 33 survivors but went out of kilter on the last trip up from the sub. A new rubber apron on the bottom, which seals over escape hatches on the submarine, was fitted and other repairs were made.

Before they were halted by fog, divers made fast compressed air hose lines to the bulk of the Squalus.

TO FORCE WATER OUT

Tons of water will be forced from the flooded sections to lighten the 249-foot craft which sank Tuesday during a speed test dive.

Navy divers, working in relays in the terrific pressure, worked throughout the night under the glare of giant searchlights preparing to raise the $4,000,000 fighting craft from its bed of mud.

Decks of the sunken sub were

Beacon Hill Wife Found Attacked

Victim of a brutal attack, a girl identified as Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, a waitress, 29, of Bowdoin street, Beacon Hill, was found unconscious in a lonely section of Coolidge Hill, Cambridge, today.

Police in a prowler car discovered her sprawled in grass in the rear of Mt. Auburn Cemetery, favoring a petting spot.

She was taken to Cambridge City Hospital, where doctors said she had suffered internal injuries.

Patrolmen Gerald McCarthy and Daniel Coleman, who found her, said she was delirious and unable to tell details of the attack.

At the hospital she regained consciousness within an hour, but was in too serious a condition to be questioned.

Police learned she roomed at the Bowdoin street house with her husband, Larry Reynolds, from May 7 until May 24, leaving then for a new address that was not immediately learned.

Roomers said her husband was employed in a Roslindale restaurant and that she worked nights.

After investigation, police sought an unidentified man about 35, whom witnesses said was with the victim in Harvard square early today.

They also learned the girl came to Boston about two months ago from Baltimore.

STRIKE TIES UP 2 MORE BIG LINERS

Arriving on schedule today at docks heavily guarded by police, the Eastern Steamship liners Boston and Yarmouth, from New York and Nova Scotia, respectively, were promptly ordered out of service by the company.

This completed a strike-compelled tieup of all Eastern Steamship lines, involving 14 principal vessels and an estimated 1070 employees.

Officials of the steamship company said several thousand longshoremen, stevedores, office clerks and other land employees would be affected also, if the strike, called by the Seafarers' International Union of North America, an AFL affiliate, were long continued.

WAGE INCREASE DENIED

Refusal of the company to grant demands of union seamen for a substantially higher wage scale was given as reason for the strike.

Anticipating demonstrations by strikers here today, harbor police escorted the incoming S. S. Boston and S. S. Yarmouth to their berths at India wharf.

Details of police on the dock guarded arriving passengers against annoyance. No union picketing was attempted, however, Eastern Steamship officials said.

Haggage and freight were unloaded without incident. Arrangements were then made for immediate pay-off of all employees of the two vessels.

NO ALTERNATIVE

John Mogan, international representative of the union, declared yesterday the strike was called after more than a month of negotiations had failed to bring agreement on wages and working conditions, and the seamen, stewards and engineers of the line voted overwhelmingly to strike. The union demanded a general 10 percent increase, with 60 cents a day subsistence and double time for Saturday afternoons.

Pres. Alton B. Sharp, in a statement issued from the Boston office, declared the strike was "forced on two-thirds of the men by a minority leadership, and left the company no alternative but to face the strike and possible complete shut-down."

DIVER EDWARD THOMPSON Missed Death as Lines Fouled

Harvard Bride Clue Traced To N. Y. Hotel

The first definite clue since Monday to possible whereabouts of attractive, 22-year-old Mrs. Edna Earle Smith, mysteriously missing bride of a young Harvard University instructor, turned the search for her to a New York apartment house district today.

Nurse Burns To Death in Back Bay

Slumped in a flaming armchair, Hilda Bradford, 24, pretty Massachusetts Memorial Hospital nurse, was burned to death in her Back Bay apartment today, the second person to die in such a fashion in 24 hours.

Heavy smoke poured from the girl's room, on the second floor of a Park Drive apartment house, and drove nearly 200 persons to the street.

FOUND GIRL ASLEEP
Just 24 hours earlier, yesterday morning, Wilbert Fagin, 31, year-old insurance clerk, perished when fire destroyed his Newbury Street, Back Bay, room.

Firemen wearing smoke masks groped their way to the nurse's suite and found only a large over-stuffed chair ablaze. They picked her, charred from the pyre and rushed to City Hospital, where physicians said death was caused by burns and suffocation.

Police revealed that friends had tried unsuccessfully to call Miss Bradford by telephone three hours before the fire, then asked a physician at her hospital to call at her apartment.

CIGARETTE BLAMED

The physician was unable to rouse the girl and was admitted to her apartment by the janitor. He found her asleep on the bed and left after a brief conversation with her, police said.

Deputy Fire Chief William Quigley said the fire was apparently caused by the girl dropping a cigarette into the chair. Damage of $100 was confined almost entirely to the chair.

Dionne Quins 5 Tomorrow

CALLANDER, Ont., May 27 (Canadian Press)—The Dionne quintuplets, five years old tomorrow, will have one large cake with five small candles—each child to blow out one candle.

The girls will be hostesses at a party to their mother and father and seven brothers and sisters.

From an undivulged source, Boston police said they learned the bride was seen in an apartment hotel in East 23rd street, New York.

Her supposed appearance there was subsequent to Tuesday, when she telegraphed her husband from Grand Central station, New York, saying she was taking a train for Boston immediately.

Acting on the theory that Mrs. Smith might be an amnesia victim, police and federal agents had already begun a painstaking canvass of New York hotels and hospitals when the new clue was received.

G-men were called into the case when the missing bride's wealthy father-in-law, J. Frank Smith, of Milton, Fla., made a personal appeal to J. Edgar Hoover, federal Bureau of Investigation chief.

Although Boston police refused to state the source of their new information today, every resource of New York authorities was promptly concentrated on running down the East 23rd street clue.

At the time of her disappearance Mrs. Smith was on her way from Florida to Boston to join her husband for the summer.

She is a teacher at Milton, Fla. The couple wed in Florida only ten months ago, but were temporarily separated after the honeymoon by their respective school and college jobs.

British Princesses Flee Heat Wave

WINDSOR, England, May 27 (AP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose splashed gaily about in the royal lodge swimming pool today in their first open-air dip of 1939.

The princesses came to Windsor for the Whitehouse week-end and for relief from what British call a heat wave.

BRIDE OF DEATH GRIEVES OVER SAILOR SWEETHEART

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 27—It's her wedding eve but she's the bride of Death.

Broken by grief, Ruth DeSauteL, now waiting to bury her sailor sweetheart, proved herself one of the most courageous of women (robbed by the sea in the Squalus disaster).

She fully exonerated her bridegroom's closest pal who shut a bulkhead against him, thereby saving 33 men.

Ruth was to have been married tomorrow to Sherman Shirley. Lloyd Maness was to have been best man.

Shirley was among those in the flooded compartments of the submarine when the disaster struck.

And the man who closed the bulkhead door and cut off any possible means of escape for Shirley—was Maness.

Ruth is 20, brown-haired and pretty. Her eyes are red-rimmed from constant weeping. But in her heart is the kind of courage that no grief could overcome.

She repeated it over and over—Lloyd did the right thing.

"I still can't believe Sherman is dead," she said. "There is still some hope. There must be. I won't give up hoping until—until—"

Hub Children Roar Elephants Welcome

Boston youngsters by the thousand thronged Boston Garden this afternoon to roar a delighted welcome to "Hazel" and "Dutch," as nice a pair of elephants as any child would want to see.

The big, friendly pachyderms, brought by special bus for the occasion, of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus, were accepted in behalf of the city by Mayor Tobin, whose two daughters, Helen Louise, 8, and Carol Ann, 4, played the role of gracious little hostesses.

It was a real celebration for both the youngsters, as well as for "Hazel" and "Dutch," who gobbled up so many bags of donated peanuts that fearful trainers finally called a halt.

The mayor's daughters had a party all their own for some 300 children from the city's orphanage, brought by special bus for the occasion.

The official acceptance by the city was completed in true circus fashion.

Clovers, acrobats, aerialists, balancing bands and plenty of popcorn made it a never-to-be-forgotten occasion for the squealing youngsters as members of the local Federal Theater Project staged a circus performance all their own.

There were strong men, fire-eaters, animal acts and jugglers to keep the children pop-eyed and also to make the two big elephants feel right at home.

G-MEN TO CRACK DOWN ON HUB POLITICIANS

'Blow Boston Wide Open,' Is Plan Now

WASHINGTON, May 27—Department of Justice officials today refused to deny or confirm persistent rumors that U. S. Attorney-General Frank Murphy and G-men will soon start a probe in Boston similar to that which placed Tom Pendegast, Kansas City political boss, behind bars.

Attorney General Murphy, now on the West Coast, could not be reached. Another high official admitted, however, that evidence of income tax evasion is held here which could "blow Boston wide open." Several former state officials are said to be involved.

Party lines will be ignored, according to this spokesman, and the U. S. prosecutor will make a clean sweep as he is now doing in prosecutions of Enoch Johnson, Atlantic City Republican boss and Moses Anzenberg in Chicago.

This course usually opens with indictments sought against former officials on charges brought by U. S. tax investigators and this brings in the Treasury Department which for several years has been anxious to press Boston and Massachusetts cases.

Under the plan a representative of the Justice Department goes before a grand jury and forces testimony under oath.

"We are prepared to hand a long list of evidence to the attorney general and with great pleasure," said a Treasury official who is familiar with the Boston case, "but at former Attorney General Cummings for having 'shielded' the Boston group."

For more than five years internal revenue agents have quietly investigated tax evasions in the Massachusetts capital and have forwarded the results to the Justice Department, it was revealed.

Murphy on Coast To Probe Spy Ring

SAN FRANCISCO, May 27 (INS)—United States Attorney-General Frank Murphy was in San Francisco today on a "social visit" that included interviews with mysterious Alcatraz prison "personalities," the U. S. district attorney, FBI officials and skeptical newsmen.

He indicated the primary reason for his visit was to investigate espionage, although he insisted that "no particular significance" should be attached to his presence in the West Coast's center of military and naval operations.

With him came FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover, who said he was not at liberty to discuss "the local situation," then added:

"But I can tell you this: Spy activities in the United States have greatly increased in the last few months and we're hoping for an added appropriation to allow our department to go deeper into the situation."

Suspected income tax dodging by Hollywood motion picture executives, Murphy revealed, is being rigorously investigated by Department of Justice operatives. He spoke guardedly on this subject, but admitted the federal spotlight centered on the incomes of executives, rather than those of actors.

Murphy exhibited a keen interest in the spy problem, but said: "There is nothing in the espionage situation for the people of this country to get hysterical about—but there is enough espionage so that a vigilant government cannot be indifferent to it."

6 Die as Cart Rams Fireworks

BOMBAY, May 27 (AP)—A freak explosion, caused when the wheel of a passing bullock cart struck sacks containing fireworks at a fair at Borsala, killed six persons and injured 22 today.

The owner of the fireworks booth was blown to pieces, the driver of the cart was hurled over a tree and the cart catapulted through the roof of a house. The explosion was heard six miles away.

American Tars Seek to Marry French Belles

VILLAFRANCHE, France, May 27 (AP)—Love-smitten sailors aboard the United States cruiser Omaha urged French officials today to give permission to marry about a score of Riviera belles before the ship sails for home June 17.

Captain Wallis Lind, commander of the Omaha which has been here over a year, advised the men not to take on "additional anchors" at present.

"Think it over a lot first," was his advice.

It was a race against sailing time. The French mayor, surrounded by the thumping hearts and dark eyes that caused them, had to telephone the Ministry of Justice in Paris for special permission for the weddings. The sailors had to post ten-day banns.

Under French law foreigners may not be married in France unless they have permits to reside in the country for more than a year.

The American sailors had no such permits. Usually it takes months to get them, so special permission had to be sought prior to the posting of banns.

Weddings likely to occur before the Omaha departs include that of Richard Johnson, Woodstock, Vt., and Marie Perotti.

James Frederick Black of Chattanooga, Tenn., is also all set to marry, but a Newport, R. I., divorce decree will not become final until July 3, after the Omaha sails.

EMULATING famous ancestor with publication of a first novel "One Pair of Hands" is this pretty and dainty lady, another Dickens. She Miss Monica Dickens, great granddaughter of Charles Dickens, England's famed novelist. Other relatives were also famous in English history.

DR. CHARLES H. MAYO DEAD OF PNEUMONIA

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Dr. Charles H. Mayo, famous surgeon who teamed with his brother in developing the internationally known medical clinic in Rochester, is dead today of pneumonia at Mercy Hospital.

The 73-year-old medic had saved the lives of patients from all sections of the nation.

At the bedside when death came were his wife, his son, Dr. Charles W. Mayo; three daughters, Mrs. Fred Rankin of Lexington, Ky.; Mrs. Esther Hartzell of Detroit; and Mrs. Louise Trenholm of Rochester, widow of another son who was killed in an automobile accident in 1936.

Dr. William J. Mayo, 77, who worked with Dr. Charles in building the renowned "Mayo Brothers" institution, was at his home in Rochester, recovering from a recent operation.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo announced his father's death was caused by "lobar pneumonia, type No. 2, a rare type nearly always fatal." He reported the elderly doctor had been unconscious periodically for at least three days.

Dr. Mayo was stricken in a hotel here eight days ago and was rushed to the hospital. Five doctors attended him.

The family arranged to send the body to Rochester tonight. It will arrive at 3 a. m. (Central Standard Time) tomorrow in the city where he earned fame and fortune by relieving human misery.

Goebbels Again Warns Big Powers

By the Associated Press

The French cabinet conferred today on a proposed mutual assistance agreement with Turkey, another link in the British-French chain of alliances, as German Propaganda Minister Goebbels sounded a "final warning" to powers he accused of seeking to "encircle" Germany.

Informed sources in Paris predicted a Turkish-French accord, paralleling the agreement already reached between Britain and Turkey, would be initiated next week. Foreign sources understood that all that stood between Ankara and Paris was an arrangement for minorities in Hatay, former Sanjak of Alexandretta, which France has administered as part of her Syrian mandate. Hatay is expected to pass to Turkey.

NAZIS TO RETALIATE

Goebbels' "warning" that "every blow" of the British-French front "will be answered by us with a deafening counter blow," emphasized the gravity with which Germany views efforts in London and Paris to bring Soviet Russia into their line-up.

A dispute at Geneva over joint Finnish-Swedish proposals to re-fortify the Åland Islands in the Baltic Sea, reached such proportions it was feared Finland might quit the League. Soviet Russia has insisted that examination of the proposals be postponed.

A scheme was suggested, however, to try to mollify Finland by leaving to the Finns, Swedes and Russians attempts to reach a solution through direct negotiation without the League Council taking action until later.

688 SHOT IN SPAIN

In Spain, it was disclosed, 688 persons have died before firing squads since Generalissimo Francisco Franco's nationalists captured Madrid, March 28, and suspects in the central zone are going to trial at a rate of 360 persons a day on charges of treason, robbery and vandalism.

Chancellor Hitler designated Field Marshal Goering to meet 6000 German fighters from Spain on the River Elbe Wednesday and give them a heroic welcome prior to their parade before Hitler in Berlin, June 6.

F. D. Pays Visit To His Mother

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 27 (INS)—President Roosevelt returned to his family home overlooking the Hudson today for a brief holiday, still silent on his plans for 1940, despite increasing pressure that he must know whether or not he will be a third term candidate.

Before leaving Washington, the President saw Postmaster-General James A. Farley, fresh from a trans-continental swing on which the latter was sounding out sentiment and lining up delegates.

To the face of what has the earmarks of the beginning of a "draft Roosevelt" movement, the President came back here for a few days with his 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt. He planned to remain until Tuesday afternoon.

Weissmuller Plans To Wed Socialite

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—As soon as Lupe Velez divorces from him become final, "Tarzan" Weissmuller will wed socialite Beryl Scott of New Jersey, the New York Journal and American said today. The paper said the marriage probably will take place July 11.

MRS. BERTHA BERGDOLL, wife of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, paid the draft dodger a visit at Governor's Island. She is accompanied by her five-year-old son Erwin. Bergdoll was clapped in a military cell when he returned from Germany. An attorney and reporters are with Mrs. Bergdoll.

Snite Immersed In the Cold Water Of Lourdes Shrine

LOURDES, France, May 27 (AP)—Fred B. Snite, Jr., today was lifted from the "iron lung" in which he had traveled 5000 miles to Lourdes and immersed in the cold water of the miracle shrine of the Virgin of Lourdes.

Snite, Chicago infantile paralysis victim, remained for almost half an hour in a bath next to the grotto in which the virgin is worshipped.

U. S. PRIEST SAYS MASS

Earlier an American priest, P. J. McArdle of the diocese of Rochester, N. Y., celebrated mass in the grotto for the American.

Snite's decision to undergo the immersion was so sudden that neither his father nor mother was present. Afterward he was placed back in the "iron lung" in his special trailer and moved to the grotto, where he prayed for several moments before being taken back to his hospital room.

The rector of the domain of the grotto gave Father McArdle special permission to celebrate the mass. Usually only high ecclesiastical dignitaries of episcopal rank and leading large pilgrimages, are given the honor.

PARENTS JOIN PRAYERS

Snite, a 29-year-old Chicago victim of infantile paralysis, began a week-long offering of prayer to the Virgin of Lourdes before the miracle shrine.

A place was roped off among the flowering chestnut trees lining the court for the trailer of the 29-year-old American victim of infantile paralysis.

On either side of him stretched the beds of other pilgrims. Just below his trailer was a crippled four-year-old boy in a baby carriage.

As the procession of the sacrament wound from the grotto behind the basilica into the courtyard, Snite followed the ceremony through the mirror which hangs over his head.

During the service his mother and father knelt on the pavement which runs from the grotto to the Lourdes river.

See tomorrow's Sunday Green Magazine for the stirring story of founding of the famous shrine of Lourdes where hundreds of "miracle cures" have been reported.

Sues Town for Road Gang Work

PRESTONBURG, Ky., May 27 (AP)—Mrs. Bell Tackett, 52, mother of 10, "did" a half day on a road gang at nearby McDowell, Ky., a part payment on a fine, and today she sued McDowell for $25,000.

The servitude, she declared, inflicted "great bodily and physical pain" and caused her "mental anguish at social functions."

Mrs. Tackett was arrested after a squabble at a horseshoe pitching contest. The McDowell Police Court fined her $10, "liable to pay," she began working out the fine at $2 a day.

Tipplers Face Ban On Elevated Trains

Tipplers faced a ban on "EP" trains today following the decision of the Supreme Judicial Court that the operators are responsible for injury caused passengers by contact with intoxicated persons.

The high court upheld a $2347 verdict allowed Miss Olga M. Holton of Minden street, Jamaica Plain, who received a leg fracture when pushed off a street car by a celebrator.

MYSTERY WOMAN LINKED WITH BAIL FOR BUND CHIEF

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)

—Fritz Kuhn, bullet-headed leader of the German-American Bund indicted for grand larceny and forgery, was released from Tombs prison even though the storm-troopers he is charged with fleeing failed to provide the necessary $5000 bail.

A fair-haired woman presented herself at the Tombs hours after Kuhn had been locked up after pleading not guilty and asked if bail had yet been provided through Bund sources, as Kuhn had hoped it would be.

Told no bail had been paid, she went away and a few minutes later Kuhn's lawyer appeared and paid the bail in cash while the mystery woman waited in a car outside. As soon as Kuhn was released he left with his lawyer and the woman.

The lawyer would not say who the woman was or if she had provided the bail, mostly in $5 and $10 bills, but he did say it had not come from Bund contributions, which he had hoped to raise.

Kuhn is charged with embezzling more than $14,500 from several Bund organizations, including several hundred dollars said to have been spent to move furniture belonging to Mrs. Florence Camp, a divorcee, from Cleveland to Los Angeles to New York.

Mrs. Camp, with whom the Kuhn indictment says he is infatuated, though he is married, was reported to be in New York today.

Fritz Kuhn, bullet-headed leader of the German-American Bund indicted for grand larceny and forgery, was released from Tombs prison even though the storm-troopers he is charged with fleeing failed to provide the necessary $5000 bail.

MENTIONED in connection with 12-count indictment against Fritz Kuhn, German-American Bund leader, is attractive Mrs. Florence Camp of Los Angeles. Kuhn is accused of embezzling funds of the organization and of illegally using $565.75 to pay for shipping her furniture from Los Angeles to New York.

Beautiful Marjorie Ruth Wilson, 19-year-old student at Back Bay's exclusive Erskine School, was "the happiest girl in the world" on February 14 when she ended her studies with a runaway marriage to Bennington, Vermont.

Today, she was a mourning bride at Ann Arbor, Mich., with her husband of two months, William A. Devereaux, 21, pronounced a suicide, by hanging.

The former Boston schoolgirl found his body hanging by a cord in the garage at their Ann Arbor apartment, where they had gone so that Devereaux, a junior at the University of Michigan, could finish his college year.

Worried over his health was blamed by Governor Edwin C. Gann for the act. He said young Devereaux had expressed concern over his health on several occasions during recent weeks.

Erskine School students buzzed with excitement over the elopement two months ago. The bride, a resident of Kenosha, Wis., is the granddaughter of C. W. Nash, millionaire automobile manufacturer.

Devereaux's father is president of the Ferro Stamping & Manufacturing Company of Detroit.

"I'm going back with Bill so that he can finish out the year at Ann Arbor," the bride declared after the elopement. "We're going apartment hunting at once, and then I think I'll take up several studies at the college myself."

Royal Pair Walk In Woods Alone

BANFF, Alberta, May 27 (AP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth rested today in the roof garden of Canada, away from the crowds attending their arduous tour across the Dominion.

About them were the majestic Rockies. Nearby was a plunging mountain stream, the Bow river, along which they walked alone last night soon after their arrival from Calgary.

Everyone in the town of Banff, seat of a national park, was out to welcome their Britannic Majesties. They went to their hotel—opened especially for the royal visit—but reappeared in a few minutes.

The King and Queen exchanged whispers, thanked the officers for their attention and then asked to be permitted to walk alone through the woods along the river.

They will rest here until Sunday morning, when the tour resumes toward the Pacific Coast.

Finds $35,000 In Luggage

CHICAGO, May 27 (INS)—Joseph L. Gill, municipal court clerk, was pleasantly surprised here when, on unpacking one of six items of luggage he brought back with him from the San Francisco World's Fair, he discovered $35,000 worth of jewelry in one of them.

Immediately however the telephone rang. On the other end was a William R. Joyce of New York, who said:

"It seems that you have my grip and I have yours. They got mixed up at the station. Mine had—er—some valuables."

"I'll say it did," admitted Gill ruefully, and arranged to ship Joyce's bag and jewels to his home at 1650 Fifth avenue, New York.

3 SO. END YOUTHS HELD AS BANDITS

Three South End youths, two of whom were captured in a wild auto chase in which police were fired on, today were ordered held over the week-end after facing a police headquarters lineup.

Meanwhile, authorities sought victims of recent robberies in an effort to link a series of holdups to Christopher Kelliher, 22, and Roland Stavaropoulos, 22, both of Appleton street.

An alleged companion, 24 years old, was picked up later in an Essex street cafe, and according to police, admitted owning the gun used in firing upon the pursuing police. His name was not revealed.

Still a fourth youth, also picked up in the same cafe, was declared by police to have no connection with the arrested trio.

According to charges of police, Kelliher and Stavaropoulos entered a chain store in Shawmut avenue, threatened the manager, John Broderick, 38, of Jamaica Plain, with a gun and then fled with $27 cash and a $10 check.

As they raced through Corlies

Albert Picardi

Arlington and Berkeley streets, bystanders and police joined in the pursuit. At Arlington and Berkeley streets, police say Kelliher fired one shot which just missed Traffic Officer Madden, who was returning home in civilian clothes.

A few minutes later, a second shot zipped through the clothing of Albert Picardi, of Saratoga st., East Boston, a clerk of another store, who had joined the pursuit, and grazed his right thigh.

Trapped in Lawrence st., near the Berkeley st. bridge, the two youths were captured by a flying squad of police and taken to Station 4, where police say they confessed to a series of other holdups.

Army Ponders Bergdoll's Fate

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The fate of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger who returned to his homeland after a 19-year exile in Germany, was being weighed by army officials today.

Bergdoll was confined to Castle William prison on Governor's Island and army officials refused comment in the absence of their commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Dwyer.

The courageous child, suffering from the rare and deadly Wilms' tumor, flew half way across the continent for treatments by Dr. Alexander J. Chliko.

Dr. Chliko saved the life of Harry Holt, Jr., 24, of Monongahela, who was given but two weeks to live when brought here to New Rochelle Hospital in March. Today, all trace of the same malignant disease from which little Joan suffers has disappeared.

Joan began the first of a series of special X-ray treatments at once after a flight which included stops at Huron, S. D.; Minneapolis, Chicago and Newark, N. J.

Her trip was financed by a "fairy godfather," A. N. Spanel, a rubber goods manufacturer of Dover, Del., who had read of attempts of the little girl's Oldham neighbors to raise funds for treatments.

Through Spanel's arrangements, the child was spirited east and taken from Newark airport by special ambulance to New Rochelle Hospital.

Austin J. Rhoncke, hospital superintendent, said treatments would continue daily, but that it would be 10 days before their effects could be ascertained.

Through it all, Joan clutched a great big doll and smiled.

"Flying is fun," she said. "I wasn't scared a bit. Now I know I'm going to get well."

Nose Traps Suspects in $97 Holdup

More than three weeks ago, a Roxbury holdup victim told police: "One of the robbers had an enormous nose. I'd know that nose if I ever saw it again."

Today he did see it, so he said. The youth whose face it ornamented boarded an Ashmont-bound car at Grove Hall, Roxbury.

The holdup victim, Matthew Schaeffer, a film Hill avenue liquor store clerk, led police in pursuit. After a half-mile chase a cruising car overhauled the trolley and the "big nose" youth and a companion were seized.

The suspects were placed in a lineup at headquarters, then were held for questioning.

In the Schaeffer holdup on May 5 the bandits got $97.

Helene Costello Held Tippy Driver

HOLLYWOOD, May 27 (INS)—Helene Costello, former film actress and member of the famous Costello family of actors, was $100 poorer today.

Charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor, Miss Costello, the wife of D. Arturo del Barrio, Cuban film producer, was to appear in the Monrovia justice court yesterday. But she didn't, and her bail of $100 was ordered forfeited.

$15,000 Diamonds Lost in N. Y. Subway

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—Loss of $15,000 worth of loose diamonds in a subway train or station was reported to police today. Mrs. Rachel Trautsky said she was en route uptown on the Broadway subway to the office of her husband, a diamond importer, when she noticed the sealed envelope in which the gems resided, was missing.

Body and Soul

GIRL, 10, KILLS SELF BROTHER

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., May 27 (AP)—Elsie Higgins, 10, is dead here of wounds which Sheriff R. C. Partin said were self-inflicted after she shot her four-year-old brother, Joe, to death with a .38 caliber pistol at their Bailey Switch home.

In a statement the sheriff said, the little girl related she fired one bullet into the boy's body as he lay on a bed and, when he fell off, picked him up and shot him again.

He added she fired two bullets into her own breast as another brother, aged eight, the only witness, fled.

The mother wife of a miner at Blackstar in Harlan County, had left home for Barbourville. She told Coroner Clarence Mitchell, Elsie frequently had threatened to kill the other children, burn the house and kill herself if the mother "went to town."

Mrs. Higgins said she had never regarded Elsie's remarks seriously.

Tobin Orders Study Of Hub Water Costs

Following a conference with Prof. Maurice B. Lample of Harvard, prominent authority on municipal affairs, Mayor Tobin announced today he had invited the Harvard graduate schools of engineering, public health and public administration to make studies of the municipal water and sewerage problems in Boston.

Mayor Tobin said the purpose of the studies would be to discover whether the city is paying too much for service from the Metropolitan water and sewerage system and to find a solution of the water pollution problem.

What Will the Mighty Yanks Do?

By GEORGE LEWIS

FORTY FATHOMS UNDER THE SEA with the icy hand of Death upon you! Forty hours gone and Death's fearsome grip growing tighter and tighter! Forty cries shouted into the awful stillness! Forty prayers said in vain!

What would YOU do? What in those long, last minutes would YOU say?

Undoubtedly, you asked yourself those questions this week as you read the gripping story of the submarine Squalus, cheered the rescue of the 33 that lived, mourned for the 26 who died.

Tomorrow, when you receive your Boston Sunday Advertiser, you will ask them again, for you will read Win Brooks' brilliantly-told account of another shocking naval tragedy—the S-51.

No ingenious diving bell was available, then, to save the men sealed alive in the tank-like coffin.

Desperate in the hope that help would come, they waited, not for hours, as did the Squalus crew, but for days.

But no help came. Death took no holiday. Only when the doomed craft was brought to the surface with its cargo of corpses was the picture that Mr. Brooks gives you known and understood.

WILL FAITH CURE young Fred Snite, the athlete who has gone half way around the globe to the internationally famous Shrine of Lourdes?

Can a miracle release this paralyzed invalid from the iron lung that for years has enabled him to breathe?

Myke McSweeney, Sunday Advertiser writer, wonders as you wonder. And, wondering, he writes of Lourdes, of what has been done at that holy grotto, and of what MAY be done.

Believer or unbeliever, you will not want to miss this enjoyable, informative story.

THE GREEN MAGAZINE of your Advertiser will hold your interest for hours.

There, you will learn how song writers get the bright ideas that make their ditties the favorites of the nation.

You will discover that the very popular "hit," "The Angels Sing," has a history that goes back thousands of years to the ancient Hebrews.

If you like hair-raising fiction, you will turn immediately to "The Cairo Garden Murders," a vivid mystery tale from the pen of the noted E. Van Wyck Mason.

Nor will you neglect Hollis Blair's account of the dramatic happening that shocked the city of Springfield three decades ago.

And you must certainly will continue Paul Whetton's story of Amelia Earhart, New England's favorite flier who disappeared after her plane was sighted near Pacific Ocean islands.

"Must reading" in your home will also be tomorrow's instalment of the history of the strange Beecher family of geniuses, reformers and Nineteenth Century leaders.

THE SMART SET MAGAZINE is as entertaining as it is informative. Here, you will see the latest society news from Boston, Newton, Wellesley and Brookline.

The true story behind the social scenes by Cholly Knickerbocker, outstanding reporter of doings in the sphere of the "400" . . . A Smart Set party with a fascinating assortment of candid camera pictures . . .

Plans for homes, gardens, luncheons, dinners . . . And everything the really up-to-date woman wants to know.

LOVE OPENS PRISON DOORS! It seems unbelievable. But it isn't. In the Sunday Advertiser's news section, Dr. Miriam Van Waters, superintendent of the Reformatory for Women at Sherborn, tells the story of the "average woman" who occupies a cell in this big penal institution.

It is Dr. Van Waters' contention that "the normal desire of every woman is to be loved."

Different—yet every bit as interesting—is Miss Nancy Tenney's feature, appropriately titled: "Glamour Girl On a Budget."

Miss Tenney, one of Boston's most popular debas, shows how it is easy for the young woman of modest means to acquire a dazzling trousseau for her marriage to the man she loves.

More glamour is to be found in "Cosmopolitan Girl"—the feature that introduces you to the young woman whom a national contest has chosen as this section's most typical, sophisticated and representative candidate.

"Miss Cosmopolitan Girl" tells her own story, discusses the things she likes or dislikes, and reveals the ambitious plans she has made for the future.

THE SPORTS PARADE, New England's most interesting newspaper section devoted to athletic activity, brings you the country's outstanding writers.

THIS BOY DESERVES A DOG OF HIS OWN!

Old Diogenes, with his lantern, wouldn't have to look further than in Cambridge today—if an honest boy would satisfy him!

For 18-year-old Gordon Seyditz of Oxford street, Cambridge, proved his unwavering, self-sacrificing honesty, beyond dispute, when he telephoned the Boston Evening American to say:

"If anybody has lost a pretty swell English shepherd dog, about a year old, you can put in the paper that he's here at my house, 105 Oxford street."

"He followed me home a week ago Thursday. He just tagged along, as I was delivering papers on my route."

"He seemed so glad to have somebody to pet him and feed him, I didn't have the heart to chase him away."

"We haven't tied him up or anything, but he has kind of adopted our whole family. He sleeps every night just outside my bedroom door."

"My mother and father and my two brothers are all crazy about him. Almost as crazy about him as I am. But we don't feel we ought to keep him —if his real master is hunting for him and wants him back."

Vets to Honor Dead In Special Services

Veterans' organizations throughout the state today made final preparations to honor their dead in a week-end observance of church ceremonies, parades and cemetery exercises.

Governor Saltonstall and United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., are scheduled to participate in one of the largest memorial parades, that tomorrow of the Veterans' Memorial Association, comprising all the veteran groups in the city.

Dorchester veteran groups will attend memorial services tomorrow in St. Mark's Church at 11 a. m. with Commander Dennis Driscoll, Post 15, G. A. R., escorted to the church by members of John Drum Camp, U. S. W. V.

In South Boston seven veteran and patriotic organizations will join in a parade from the municipal building to St. Peter's Church, where services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

ROXBURY PARADE TODAY

Members of Roxbury Post No. 44, American Legion, begin their annual memorial services this afternoon with a parade to Holyhood Cemetery, where graves of departed comrades will be decorated. Tomorrow, members of the post will receive Holy Communion in a body at Memorial services in All Saints' Church, Centre st., Roxbury. The mass will be sung at 10 a. m.

The Grand Clan of Massachusetts, Order of Scottish Clans, ladies of the auxiliaries and Daughters of Nova Scotia and Boston Caledonian Club, will have their annual Memorial services tomorrow in the Church of the Covenant, Newbury st., Back Bay. They will march from Copley square to the church.

The Mass. Department of Jewish War Veterans will hold their annual services for the dead at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Temple Israel, Commonwealth avenue. Lt. Gov. Cahill will be guest speaker. A parade will be held prior to the services.

OTHER SERVICES

The Union Congregational Church, Columbus ave. and West Newton st., will be the scene of another memorial service at 10:30 tomorrow. Members of Charles Russell Lowell Camp, S. U. V., Elizabeth A. Turner Tent, D. U. V., Lowell Camp auxiliary, Frederick Becker Woman's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., Whitten Camp, U. S. W. V., Kearsarge Association of Naval veterans, South End Legion and V. F. W., will parade from 1151 Washington st., at 10 o'clock for the church.

In Quincy special services and ceremonies will be held at 11 o'clock in the First Parish Church, Quincy square, sponsored by all veteran and patriotic orders in the city. Rev. Arthur Bryant Whitney, minister of the historic church, will give the oration and after the services the participants will march to the Old Hancock burying ground to decorate the graves of Civil War veterans.

HOP, SKIP AND JUMP!

It was hop, skip and jump all day today at the Charles street mall on the Boston Common as hopscotchers from 67 municipal playgrounds held their annual tournament under WPA recreation leaders.

AIDS VETERANS—Mildred Law, dancer, buys a poppy from Bernard Epstein, Corps No. One, Boston Sons of Veterans of Foreign Wars. The annual drive officially opened in Boston today.

Two Girls Saved From Blazing Auto

Snatched from flaming death in a triple automobile crash in Woburn today, two Arlington girls were among 17 persons injured in automobile accidents.

The Misses Barbara Rawling, 25, of Newport street, and Natalie Brown, 23, of Wachusett street, both of Arlington, were rescued by their escorts when their car caught fire in an accident on Cambridge road, Woburn.

Two men and two women were injured when two cars collided in Alford street, Charlestown. Treated at Somerville hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Denchy of Chelsea street, Charlestown; Miss Marie McLaughlin of Wheeler street, Somerville, and Charles T. Dupont of Bailey street, Everett.

Harry Turner, 48, of Massachusetts avenue, South End, was critically injured at Massachusetts and Columbus avenues, South End, by an automobile which police said was driven by Peter I. Elson of Hallow street, Roxbury.

FOUND DEAD IN HOME

Funeral arrangements were being made today for Mrs. Minnie R. Corrigan, 58, who died of a heart attack at her apartment in Queensbury street, Back Bay.

Injury Bill Killed by Veto

A bill which would have made it illegal for anyone except members of the claimant's family, attorneys, legislators, or insurance company representatives to participate in the settlement of a case for personal injury was dead today, killed by Governor Saltonstall's veto.

The governor said that the bill was "unfair and placed a criminal stigma on charity and friendship," since it would prevent relatives, other than members of the immediately family, and friends from aiding injured persons and would force them to consult an attorney or a member of a limited group to obtain a settlement.

B. C. High Offers New Scholarships

Boston College high school officials announced today that 15 additional four-year scholarships, besides the four already being offered, will be awarded this year. The scholarship examinations will be held June 16.

The subject matter of the examination will be limited to arithmetic and English and will be open to all boys completing the eighth grade this June in both parochial and public schools. No entrance fee is required and the winners will be announced June 11.

N. E. in Shoe Wage Rate Fight

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Sharp disagreement over wage differentials developed between eastern and mid-western manufacturers at a hearing before the wage-hour division's shoe industry committee.

The committee was named to recommend minimum wages to become effective Oct. 24 when the present minimum of 25 cents an hour in interstate industries will be increased automatically to 30 cents under the Labor Standards Act. Representatives Healey and Flaherty, Massachusetts Democrats, said they favored a uniform wage considerably higher than 30 cents and urged a 40 cent minimum without regional differentials.

Fog Delays Salvage Work on Squalus

cleared of guard rails and other surface fittings which impede the salvage work.

Permanent steel lines were attached from the salvage ship Falcon to the submerged craft. Underwater also were attached heavy chains to which will be made fast eight huge pontoons, each capable of lifting 80 tons.

The pontoons will be flooded and sunk alongside the Squalus, made fast, and the water forced out to give buoyancy. The job may take two or three days, or as long as three weeks, Navy experts said.

RUSH 13 MORE DIVERS

In response to a plea from Rear Admiral C. W. Cole, in charge of the salvage operations, for additional men, the Navy Department ordered 13 fledgling divers here from the training school at Washington to give them experience in salvaging.

According to Capt. Greenlee the main induction valve, which is Navy designed and manufactured at the local Navy Yard, is a hydraulic-controlled apparatus which takes in air for both the submarine engines and the ventilating system when the ship is running on the surface.

It is mushroom shaped with a cover which lifts like the lid of a pedal-operated garbage can. The mushroom valve is connected directly with the control board, and when it starts to close it flashes a green light on the board.

Every submarine dives, Capt. Greenlee said, on the assumption that the light is registering the true position of the valve, the Navy expression indicating that all valves are closed in preparation for submergence being "The Christmas tree is green."

18 SUCCESSFUL DIVES

The manager of the navy yard pointed out that the Squalus had previously made 18 successful dives since being completed here, and declared that anything said about the condition of the induction valve was pure conjecture.

"No one knows what happened," he said, "because no one has gotten down there to see."

According to men at the navy yard who are familiar with the mechanical apparatus of the Squalus-type submarines and a knowledge of the duties of the crew, it is difficult for them to believe that the induction valve failed to close.

They said the automatic hydraulic mechanism designed to close the inner and outer sections of the valve is highly dependable, and moreover a man is supposed to be stationed at each opening with instructions to close them by hand-wheel if the mechanism fails.

In addition they said that if any valve fails to close, a red light danger signal flashes on a control board before the eyes of the navigating officer.

Called the high induction valve because it is located on the conning tower, it has an outer opening 31 inches in diameter.

TWO DUCTS

Below decks in the engine room the valve divides into two ducts, each about 14 inches in diameter and for water to enter the after sections of the submarine, at least one of the inner ducts must have been open, it was pointed out.

According to the experts the valves are left open until the moment of diving, at which time the two Diesel engines are stopped and the electric motors are turned on. At that time, it was stated, a man is supposed to be stationed at each of the three openings to shut the valve by hand wheel if the automatic gear fails.

No examination of the induction valve has yet been made, the diver who went down Thursday having merely removed the after hatch, found the compartment beneath to be full of water, and replaced the hatch before returning to the surface.

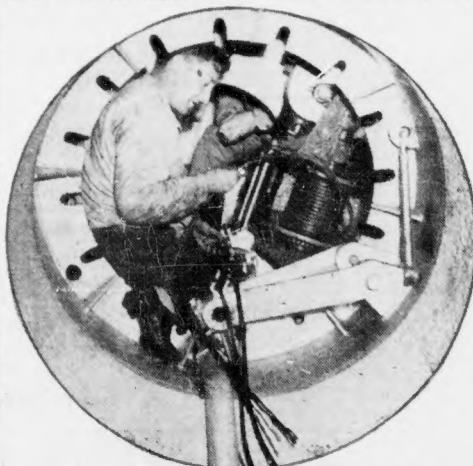

Charles S. Kuney, yeoman; Gavin J. Coyne, radio operator; and Lieut. John C. Nichols were discharged from the naval hospital today, thereby completing recovery of all 33 survivors of the tragedy.

8 Army Mules Dead 2 Weeks as 'Fuss' Rages

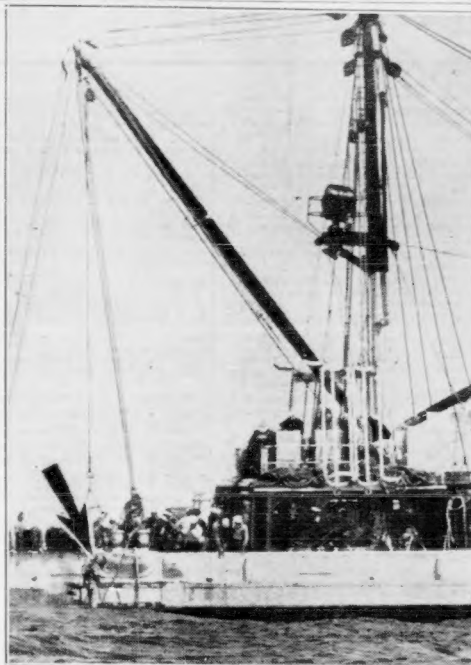

PORT DIX, N. J., May 27 (AP)—Those eight army mules, whose death sentence stirred a congressional furore and brought a War Department reprieve, have been dead these two weeks now.

The mules, condemned to die as no longer serviceable because of their age—one saw World War service—were executed quietly, it was disclosed today, to "avoid recurrence of all the fuss." A war veterans' group, among others, had urged that they be permitted to live a peaceful retired life.

"The army has been shooting mules for 162 years and nobody ever said anything about it before," said one high official at the fort. "Our veterinary ordered their destruction because they were so sick and infirm that it would have been cruelty to allow them to live any longer."

How Survivors First Saw 'Life' Bell

Diver Starts Descent to Sunken Squalus

GIANT DIVER FIRST DOWN TO SQUALUS

Martin Sibitzky, bon'n's mate, second class, who lives in Groton, Conn., a veritable giant, was the first diver to be lowered into the depths of the Atlantic over the Squalus, and attached the first cable for the diving bell, which, finally, saved 33 of the crew.

And to Sibitzky it was all part of a day's work, with no monetary rewards, no acclaim. He is mightily pleased that he was given the chance, as a matter of fact, but he wants the credit to go to his ship, the Falcon, and to his shipmates at the New London Submarine Base.

"I was on leave Tuesday," he said, in the first interview, "and I was playing in my yard at home in Groton with my youngster."

"All of a sudden I heard the sound of sirens and a police car comes along. I waved to them, but they stopped. I thought maybe they'd stopped to say 'hello,' but instead they wanted me."

"Come right as you are," they said, "You've got to rejoin your ship."

"That was at 2:30. At 3:30 I was aboard the Falcon, and we were under way."

"First off we were sent to the sister-ship, the Sculpin, to study every detail of the hatches. That was a unique experience, being able to study like that. I even took notes."

"Next morning at 9 o'clock, I went down and attached the cable for the down-haul."

Visibility at 240 below the surface was such, he said, that he could see 60 feet in any direction.

OVATION GIVEN SUB SURVIVOR

Involuntary principal of a neighborhood ovation, Francis J. Murphy of Charlestown, quartermaster first class, who survived the U. S. S. Squalus tragedy, will from now on avoid the subject of his adventures.

Attending a Charlestown movie last night which included newswreel shots of the Portsmouth disaster, Murphy was recognized and led up on the stage of the theater to receive the cheers of the audience. But as Murphy sorrowfully recalled the fate of his shipmates, 26 of them still entombed in the flooded submarine, the applause was silenced and women among the audience wept openly.

"But I don't like to say much about what happened," Murphy told the audience, "because there are a lot of my friends down there—that submarine, including the greatest friend I ever had, a pal whom I miss tremendously."

Slum Clearance Meeting Sunday

A public meeting to discuss slum-clearance in Boston will be held at the Parkman Bandstand on Boston Common tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 p. m. City Councilor Clement A. Norton of Hyde Park announced today.

Chairman John Carroll of the State Housing Board and Chairman James A. Breen of the city housing authority will speak. The city council is now considering the advisability of requesting the government to award more money for slum-clearance to Boston.

Councilor Norton has invited Councilor Robert Gardner Wilson, Jr., who recommends a different housing procedure, Edward Burns, chairman of the Boston Tenants Association will preside.

Clipper Hops for N. Y. After Bermuda Stop

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 27 (AP)—The Yankee Clipper, on her first round-trip mail flight across the Atlantic, landed here at 7:33 p. m. E. D. T. today after a flight from the Azores.

The Clipper took off again at 9:26 a. m. (D. T.) and headed for Port Washington, L. I. Captain Arthur E. La Porte reported the Clipper detoured 300 miles southward in attempting to avoid bad weather, but was unable to miss it and stopped at Hamilton.

Entombed Miner Taps to Rescuers

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 27 (AP)—Tappings by a miner entombed 75 feet underground spurred rescuers to push a power shovel into a mountainside at top speed today in an effort to save him.

After hope had faltered that Robert Galligan, 38, could be brought out alive, workers heard him signalling his location from the bottom of a coal hole where he was trapped by a rock slide at 10 a. m., yesterday.

GANG WAR WARNING N REVERE

A Revere racketeer has been marked for death within 24 hours and gang warfare will break out in that city at any minute, the voice of an unidentified man warned police today.

With a gruff voice he called the detective bureau at Boston police headquarters by telephone to give the ominous underworld tip.

Lieutenant George Augusta, in charge of the detective unit, tried to trace the call, but telephone officials said the tipster's haste in hanging up made this impossible. They did, however, trace the call to Revere.

Lieutenant Augusta called police of the Beach City and relayed the tipster's message. Racketeers and underworld chieftains recently have been disturbed by rumors that bloody violence was imminent if long smoldering disputes are not settled peacefully.

Not since the slaying of Louis Gaeta in Revere and David J. "Beano" Ereen in Boston 18 months ago has the underworld seethed with so many stories of hatred, intimidation and threats between rival gangs as at the present time, officials said today.

2 Facing New Revere Trial

Freed of a gambling conspiracy charge together with former Mayor James M. O'Brien of Revere, William L. O'Brien, Jr., and Thomas alias Timothy O'Connell will face a new trial Monday charged with keeping a gaming nuisance in North Shore road, Revere.

Also remaining to be tried as a result of a special grand jury probe of conditions in Revere last year is a gaming nuisance charge involving the Ruby Club.

In the conspiracy case the jury cleared in addition to William O'Brien and O'Connell, Peter Hedstrom, Sam Langford, Bernard McGarry, Joseph Corlone, John Procure, Max Gorfain, Joseph Gauthier and former Mayor O'Brien.

Judge Parker Rites Tomorrow

With flags at half staff on all public buildings, Brookline today mourned one of its most prominent citizens, Judge Philip Sterling Parker who died at his home in Carleton street, aged 71.

Judge Parker had been in ill health since his retirement from the Brookline district court bench. Funeral services will be held at the Church of Our Saviour, Brookline, tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Henry M. Ogilby officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Auburn cemetery, Cambridge.

SCOT RECLUSES SILENT TO THE END

SOUTHBORO, May 27—Donald McLeod, 71-year-old recluse, died as he had lived today, refusing to break a silence he had maintained since coming here from Scotland 15 years ago.

The aged Scotman built a small but attractive cottage on White Bagley road, in the midst of exclusive estates. There he puttered about, with never a word to his neighbors and those working on their estates.

How he lived and from what income was a mystery. The aged man kept all his affairs to himself. For three days, no one saw him. So, late last night, neighbors broke into his cottage. They found him unconscious in the kitchen.

Taken to Framingham Union Hospital, McLeod died several hours later from a heart attack.

Today, authorities began a search of the cottage to learn the secret of his long silence since coming to America.

Ex-Grid Star At B. C. to Wed

Peter V. Chennulevich, Boston College football hero, and Miss Agnes F. Moran, Nashua, N. H., high school teacher, were headed today for a June wedding, following filing of marriage intentions in Newton city hall.

The couple, who probably will be married in St. Ignace' Chapel at Boston College, had originally intended to wed at the close of the school year, June 23, but their filing of intentions indicates the ceremony may be performed sooner.

His intended bride, daughter of Mrs. B. G. Moran, of Kinsley st., and the late Dr. Bernard Moran, was graduated from Smith College and is a teacher of English at Nashua high school.

the membership of policy. They also are not, in the long run, a potential source of American aid. For the same reason, they are not the kind of factor in a showdown of hard power that the United States could plan on.

The successful implementation of the Atlantic Alliance is a testament to the extent of world attention that has been paid to the basic fact that the United States is a powerful, peaceful, and successful country. It is a good example of the fact that even when the United States is not the dominant power in the world, it is still a power that the world cannot ignore. The United States has a long history of being a world leader, and it is likely to continue to be so for many years to come. The world together is a complex and changing entity, but the United States is a constant presence in the world's affairs. The United States is a country that has a strong sense of purpose and a strong belief in its values. It is a country that has a long history of leadership and a strong commitment to the well-being of the world. The United States is a country that is a source of inspiration and a model for other countries. The United States is a country that is a force for good in the world.

You Can be Beautiful

For Quick Refreshment

By MARINE GOLD

It is a well-known fact that a woman's beauty is not only a matter of looks, but also of her health. A woman who is healthy and fresh-looking is more attractive than one who is pale and tired.

There are many ways to keep your skin in good condition. One of the best is to use a good skin cream. Another is to eat a diet that is rich in vitamins. And, of course, you should get plenty of rest and exercise.

It is important to remember that beauty is not just a matter of looks. It is also a matter of the way you feel. A woman who is happy and confident is more beautiful than one who is sad and insecure.

Duckling Casserole Dainty Dish

By MARITHA LEE

In the life of every popular hostess, there is a certain dish that is the heart of her community. There is a certain dish that has helped her the way to good success.

It is not difficult to find the address of a good restaurant. But it is not so easy to find a good recipe. A good recipe is one that is simple, easy to make, and delicious. A good recipe is one that has been tested and proven by many people. A good recipe is one that is worth the effort and expense of making it.

Dempsey's Big Loss Trying to Lift In Fight Films Present Ban

IT WAS WITH considerable feeling that Jack Dempsey told a Congressional committee that the ban against the transportation of fight films from one State to another cost him $2,000,000. I do not believe that Dempsey's estimate of his loss is exaggerated as the law was in force all during the time he was world's champion.

This was the bout in which Dempsey scored five knockdowns in the second round. The first round was the most emotional in the history of boxing. Dempsey elected to punch it out with Firpo and came roaring from his corner bawling with both fists. Firpo threw one of his famous "body" punches and it appeared as if the world was a quiet place.

Johnson-Jeffries Bout Brought Ban

HARRIS HAS SECRET TO STOP YANKEES

By JOE CASHMAN

Joseph Edward Cronin ought to get his old boss and Fenway predecessor Stanley "Bucky" Harris to give the Red Sox a pep talk before the Harris henchmen from Washington leave town tomorrow night.

"Bucky," you see, is one enemy pilot who doesn't regard the current Yankees as the mightiest machine to come roaring down the baseball highway since Abner Doubleday chartered the course 100 years ago.

The Yanks will win long away the formula favored found from Chicago's Jimmy Dukes.

The Yarkes are a positive showing they were reformed by developmental Oscar Yell.

'Goodness gracious, I haven't seen anything to compare with those Yanks in 50 years in the game. They were told by Philadelphia's Connie Mack, Poppycock and rubbish,' says Mr. Harris, coming to Mr. Cropper's rescue.

"We won three games from the Yanks because we got fine pitching from Leonard, Krakauskas and those against them," stated "Bucky."

It is well known that the β -phase of polypropylene is a metastable phase. As a result, the β -phase is not observed in the equilibrium phase diagram of polypropylene. However, the β -phase can be formed by various methods, such as crystallization from the melt, crystallization from the solution, and crystallization from the solid state. "Perhaps you have something there," he replied. "Frankly, if we had lost all our starts to date against the Yanks and I was convinced that they were the greatest team I had ever seen and couldn't possibly be beaten for the flag, I wouldn't say so. My boys would always hear me predicting that we'd pin the champs' coat-tails the next time we met."

BASEBALL Tomorrow, Fenway Park, 3 P. M. RED SOX vs. WASHINGTON

Joe DiMaggio Back In Lineup Sunday

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—Joe DiMaggio, brilliant Yankee outfielder who has been on the shelf since he tore his leg muscles April 29 in a game against Washington, was about ready to return to the lineup and may possibly get in Sunday when the Yanks play their last home game until June 14.

Joe recently has been practicing with his mates before games. In the outfield he makes sure to avoid all quick starts or stops. He has been throwing and also taking part in batting practice.

The coast slugger, always beset by some hoodoo every year since he joined the Yankees, was going at a great clip when overtaken by the injury. His batting average is .435 for seven games.

Pirates Have Holiday Wallopping Cubs, 15-5

CHICAGO, May 27 (INS)—Driving Bill Lee from the box in a four-run fourth inning, the Pittsburgh Pirates wallopped the Cubs, 15 to 5, in the opening of a three-game set. The Cubs used three more pitchers—Lillard, Harell and J. Russell—to a vain effort to stop the Pirates who crashed out 17 hits. Paul Waner made four of them and drove across three runs. Reynolds and Bartlett clouted futile homers for the Cubs.

Jim Tobin was credited with the victory over the Chicagoans who themselves pumped out 11 bingles.

Reds Move Into Lead Beating Cardinals, 7-5

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (INS)—Cincinnati's Reds whipped the Cardinals, 7 to 5, displacing the St. Louis team at the top of the National League, extending their winning streak to 11 straight and cutting the Cards' streak at seven.

Aided by sloppy fielding on the part of the Cards in the early innings, Bucky Walters went the distance to hang up a triumph. St. Louis used Warneke, Shoun, Paul Dean, McGee and Sunkel.

The Reds got a run in the first, another in the third, two in the fifth with Goodman's triple with two on base, two in the sixth off Paul Dean and another off Bill McGee on three successive one-baggers in the eighth.

With one out and the tying run on base in the ninth, Joe Medwick hit into a double play, ending the Cardinals' hopes.

Kuhel, Brown Combine To Defeat Indians

CLEVELAND, May 27 (INS)—Joe Kuhel and Clint Brown teamed to give the White Sox a 2 to 1 success over the Indians.

Kuhel knocked a homer in the seventh inning to provide the margin of victory. But Clint Brown relieved Dietrich in the ninth inning with the bases loaded, forced Pytlak to rap into a double play and fanned Jeff Heath.

Chicago got its first tally in the third and the sole Cleveland score came in the second.

Henrich's Home Run Gives Yanks Victory

NEW YORK, May 27 (INS)—Tommy Henrich clouted a homer in the sixth inning to provide the margin by which the Yanks scored their third straight shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics, 1 to 0.

Though Oral Hildebrand yielded the Macken but six bingles, they threatened repeatedly, leaving 19 men stranded on the base paths. It was Hildebrand's second strike in four mound starts.

Rookie right-hander Henry Pippin held the usually hard-tumping New Yorkers to four hits, the second day in a row they were limited to so few safeties.

Hildebrand gave seven bases on balls and Pippin only two. Each made a wild pitch.

Red Sox Lucky
Vosmik on Team

Pine Brook Valley
Course Reconditioned

It's a good thing for the Red Sox that Joe Vosmik was put in the lineup at Fenway Park. . . . The former Cleveland sand-lotter made four sensational catches, which would have completely changed the complexion of the game had he missed connections. . . .

"Dutch" Leonard was a cousin of Jim Tabor and Doc Cramer, who made six of the ten hits.

The Red Sox came up with five double plays, which did much to relieve the pressure. In the first double play, headliner to be player at Fenway Park today, Groves and Eddies Auker will be the mound-men for the Sox and Bucky Harris has assigned "Lefty" Krasakauskas and Pete Appleton to the hilltop. . . . Henry Pippin of the Athletics had the Yankees to four pits but a home run by Tom Henrich turned the tide in favor of the world's champions. . . . "Bucky" Walters pitched the Cincinnati Reds into first place of the National League by beating the Cardinals 7 to 5. . . . The Men of Medicine have now won 11 straight games.

CASEY HOPEFUL
The Bees open a four-game series with the Dodgers today in Brooklyn. . . . Victories have been few and far apart since the Stengelmans' West but "Old Case" still holds out hope that his charges will return home with a 500 for the season. . . .

The failure of the Bees to make a better showing on this trip can be traced directly to the absence of Tony Cuccinello from the lineup. . . . And Tony would have been better off to remain at home instead of joining the club. . . . He could have received treatment here for his injury and might have been ready for action when the club started its next home stay. . . . As I see it, the medices have been leaning too much toward plaster casts during the past few years. . . .

It isn't necessary to encase the leg almost to the knee in plaster. . . . New when a player breaks his little toe. . . . And any ball club that doesn't send knee injuries to Dr. Tom Richards is taking a long gamble. . . .

Dr. Richards, Pine Valley Country Club almost $1000 to replace the trees which were unrooted by the hurricane. . . . You should hear "Buck" Newsum imitate Amos and Andy. Heck a very clever mimic.

Mrs. Dick Chapman follows her husband during every golf championship. . . . The open tournament golfers are headed for Wollaston today. . . . Bill Fleming and Jim Keefe are consistent point winners for the Sandy Bury Metropolitan four-ball league team. . . . According to Mrs. Joe Cronin, the climate in Newton is not conducive to breeding golf fans. . . . And her neighbors tell her that the same thing applies to ducks. . . . Paul Junior's first fight was in Bath, Me., when he came out of the audience to fill in for a battler who had run out on a bout. . . .

MISS CADOGAN BUSY

Miss Mary Cadogan's desk at Fenway Park looks like she was conducting a column for the foreign and forsaken. . . .

The Red Sox have returned more than $16,000 sent in for tickets for Tuesday's doubleheader with the Yankees. . . . John "Yama" Quinn, the B. U. third baseman, who will join the Hartford Bees Monday, was one of the best junior golfers in New England a few years back. . . .

He was beaten by "Bunny" Emerson in the finale of the 1930 Harvard New England championship at Wollaston. . . .

The next year Bill Donnelly took him over the pumps in the finals of the state playoffs at Sandy Bury. . . . In his match with Donnelly "Tama" negotiated a dead-end stalemate on the 13th green which was one of the greatest feats he ever saw. . . .

There is far more to the story of Eddie Shore going to Springfield than appears on the surface. . . . And, if he is the one that a certain party has selected to handle the Indians, Shore will not only get the berth but he will be a player-manager. . . .

Manager Bucky Harris pitches batting practice every day. . . . He looks to be in great shape. . . . One well advanced the opinion that possibly Bucky feels that "Buddy" Myers is aging and that he (Harvey) is conditioning himself to return to the keystone cake. . . .

The Red Sox have installed a new catching cage at Fenway Park. . . . It's devised to show up wildness on the part of hurlers. . . . But, it has a very collegiate appearance. . . .

AMBERS STOPS JUNIOR IN ONE-SIDED BOUT

By JACK CONWAY

Lou Ambers flashed brilliantly once more as he stopped Paul Junior of Lewiston in eight rounds before 3000 fans at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden.

Referee Johnny Martin halted the uneven contest when Paul Junior was bleeding badly from cuts over his eyes. Ambers had carried every round. His amazing speed and rapid-fire punching with both hands completely overwhelmed the courageous Maine ring veteran. . . .

The only knockdown of the bout was scored in the first round. Ambers dropped Paul Junior with a left to the jaw followed by a right hand smash to the point of the chin. Junior regained his feet at the count of three only to run into a flock of left and right hand blows. . . .

Junior's face was a mass of blood in the closing rounds of the tussle as a result of the open wounds above his eyes. . . .

Despite his injuries, Junior was anxious to continue. It would have been unwise to have permitted the bout to have gone any longer as it was impossible to stop the flow of blood from the wounds over Junior's eyes. . . . The gross gate was $3939 for a net of $3292.

Carl Dell, 148, New York, and Jack Dubois, 147½, another Lewiston, closed the show in the eight-rounds semi-final and the decision went to the New Yorker. . . .

MARTIN WINS

In the six-rounder Lou Martin, 142½, Fall River, outpointed Pete Tarpley, 138, Portland, Me.; Bill Constance, 115, Dover, N. H., gained a three-round technical knockout over K. O. Blouin, 117½, of Lewiston, Me.; George Salamond, 134½, Boston, knocked out Young Boldine, 131½, Lewiston, Me., in the fourth round and Jerry Zullo, 135½, Chelsea, stopped Dusty Brown, 131, Fall River, in the fourth round. . . .

Ariel Toy Wilson Best Bet

By DAVE WILSON
(Selections for Fast Track)
BEST BET—ARIEL TOY, 6TH RACE

H. W. Jackson's Ariel Toy, recently disqualified after scoring an easy victory over Entracte, Spillway, Armor Bearer and Cravat at Belmont Park, shapes up not only as the probable winner of the $5000 added Commonwealth Handicap, but as the safest hazard on today's card at Suffolk Downs.

FIRST RACE

Sun Kit, Town Prince, Lika That. Throw out SUN KIT'S last race. The Kilmer filly didn't like the track. TOWN PRINCE, a distant second to his stablemate Pass Out, looks next best. LIKA THAT may have been a trifle shy on racing condition in his debut.

SECOND RACE

Friendly Paul, Americup, Our Laddie. FRIENDLY PAUL was disqualified after drubbing a field of nine some caliber only a short time back. AMERICUP, on the slow side in most recent essay, looks next best on top endeavors. OUR LADDIE was pitted too high in his most recent start.

THIRD RACE

Pass Out, Deep Summer, Rough Biscuit. PASS OUT won his initial start of the meeting like a real nice youngster. DEEP SUMMER'S victory opening day was nearly as impressive. ROUGH BISCUIT turned in a fair second in his only start in Maryland.

FOURTH RACE

FIFTH RACE

War Minstrel, Silent Witness, Be Jabbars. WAR MINSTREL, second to Tatterdemalion in the Governor's Handicap, looks as the logical selection. SILENT WITNESS and BE JABBARS rate in that order.

SIXTH RACE

Ariel Toy, Sassy Lady, Roll and Toss. ARIEL TOY needs only an equal shakes in racing luck. Contention, if any, may be furnished by SASSY LADY which drubbed ROLL AND TOSS in her Belmont Park final.

SEVENTH RACE

Foreign Legion, Our Teddy, Steepletop. FOREIGN LEGION, second to Galloping the other day, shapes up much the best. OUR TEDDY and STEEPLETOP figure pretty much alike. They rate as named.

EIGHTH RACE

Our Crest, Gentle Palatine, Mansco. OUR CREST, GENTLE PALATINE and MANSCO shape up as named in the nightcap, a wide open race.

GET IN LINE FOR MOXIE

HIGHWAY SWEEPSTAKES

Every Saturday beginning May 27th and until the end of the Sweepstakes is announced, the Moxie Man will appear at three unannounced spots on highways within 50 miles of Boston. He will give a cash award of $25 (Win), $15 (Place), and $10 (Show) respectively to the car which approaches him first on his side of the road at the three stops, provided the car shows the Moxie sticker and is being driven safely. That's all there is to it. No wrappers, no slogans, no pictures to identify. Just get a free sticker from your Moxie dealer, put it on your car; drive safely, and be lucky enough to be the first to approach the Moxie Man after he appears on the highway.

Pontoons—Part of the giant equipment being used to raise the sunken U. S. submarine Squalus from sea bottom are these mammoth pontoons, rushed to Portsmouth, N. H. Navy Yard from New York. They are being swung over ship side into water by powerful cranes. After being tested by naval engineers, they will be filled and towed to the spot where the sub went down.

Narrow Escape—Ace diver of the U. S. Navy, Edward Thompson sits on the aft deck of the rescue ship, Falcon, preparing to drop 240 feet below the sea and examine the Squalus. He found 26 dead in the flooded torpedo room—and himself had a narrow escape. A few minutes after this picture was taken his lines fouled, but he managed to extricate himself and remain alive.
